Purpose: Joe's Place House Parents facilitate a safe and stable environment for the residents of Joe's Place by overseeing the day-to-day workings of the house and ensuring the care of its residents' needs. The following are character traits that will be needed at one time or another: wisdom, compassion, courage, joy, patience, consistency, and an understanding of trauma and equity.

It is understood that when house parents have other responsibilities outside of Joe's Place, a proposed schedule will be worked out with the Board upon hiring. The houseparents are off duty whenever the students are off of school: summer break, spring break, winter break, Thanksgiving, federal holidays, and school professional development days. The houseparents are off duty during the day while the residents are in school.

Compensation/Benefits: Joe's Place House Parents will live free of rent and will also be included in the house meal plan. In addition, house parents will receive a $800/month stipend per house parent. No health benefits will be provided.
