

People talking to people.

That is the foundation of how word travels in our community. With that in mind, we are asking you to join a program we call “Key Communicators.” Anyone who lives, works, or shops within the Maplewood Richmond Heights School District can be a member of Key Communicators. The beauty of this program is that there are no meetings to attend.

- Key communicators receive e-mails with timely information from the district and give feedback as appropriate.
- They share information about district issues with their friends and colleagues in the course of the regular day.
- They disseminate accurate information, correct misinformation, and hear what the community has to say about the district.
- Key communicators contact the district when they hear positive or negative feedback, rumors, questions, and ideas from people in the community.

We hope you will join us! Here’s how:
